The {Business Type} field is a code that identifies the basic type of business and is summarized below:

C..... Mail Order catalog house
D..... Distributor
E..... Educator, school, training center
H..... Hardware manufacturer
KS ..... Computer services
M..... Publisher-magazine, news, books
MS..... Manufacture supplies

The "... Secondary Entry" is typically used to provide information on specific products produced by a company or different divisions of a company. For example, Microsoft provides a different tech support number for each of its products so there are literally dozens of "... Secondary Entry" listings under the Microsoft. Large corporations such as Toshiba may have different addresses and phone numbers for each of its different corporate divisions, such as "CDROM" or "Laptop Computers".

Anyone who has ever worked with a directory knows that it is very difficult to keep the company information current, particularly phone numbers. We would greatly appreciate it if you would take the time to call or Fax us a quick note when you find that someone has moved, or changed their number or gone out of business, or merged with another company.
